Catalogue no: LAV002 / MIMG014

Release date: December 1, 2007

Format: CD Album

Hopefully this sheet will work as an introduction to the universe of Fireflies music. We therefore like to present some of the feelings that his music evokes:

*Autumn turns into winter
A landscape soon to be dressed in white
Evenings in front of a warm fireplace
Longings for that someone special Longings for that place
where you for once
can feel perfectly at home*

Lisle Mitnik, the person behind Fireflies, describes his own creations in this way:

"I grew up in the tundras of New England playing classical piano and one day I moved to California to go to school and decided to start writing songs. I bought a portastudio and started recording, combining my love for lo-fi indie recordings of the 1980s and 90s with my unrefined knowledge of classical arrangement. I try to craft each song into a tiny snow-globe-sized universe you can curl up in and get lost for a little while."

The descriptions above are some of the ones we feel are closely connected to Fireflies music. In time our feelings might change, but for now we just want to hurl up in his snow-globe-sized universe and get lost for a little while.

We believe that this release will be loved by those who appreciate: The Clientele, Field Mice, Beach Boys, Nick Drake, Galaxie 500, The Cat's Miaow, Her Space Holiday, Nobuo Uematsu, The Softies, Belle & Sebastian, Françoise Hardy and Trembling Blue Stars.

[...] Everything will be alright, just please, please, please stay here tonight; I can't sleep when you are far away. Everything just goes to fast, I just want to stay in the past, I can't face this world alone. [...]
